Wellsville Man Injured

No Truce In Laos

Expected On Car Upsets Power Truck

A 56-year-old Wellsville man | was injured when his car rammed the rear of a power truck on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Super-road Wednesday afternoon, causing the truck to overturn.

Pictures show the front of the 1956 sedan driven by Thomas Sisco, 719 Commerce St., Wellsville, which hit the rear of the Ohio Power Co. line truck, which toppled on its side.

The truck was driven by Joseph R. McDermott, 31, of Brilliant, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Sisco was treated at City Hospital for a possible fracture of the nose and chest abrasions.

Officers said Sisco, headed south, rammed the rear of the truck about 21/2 miles south of the East Liverpool city limits about 3:30 p. m.

McDermont and three other employes of the Steubenville district of the power firm escaped injury, although one worker was knocked out momentarily.

Witnesses said Sisco had passed a number of cars and was returning to the outer lane when the front of his car hit the rear of the truck, lifting the rear wheels off the road.

The impact shoved the truck sideways, and the momentum apparently caused it to flip over, sliding some distance down the roadway on the medial strip. Sisco was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear

Ohio Must Pay For Better Roads

Ohio Republicans in majority control of the 104th General Assembly find themselves in a squeeze between two campaign promises: to give local governments more street and road money and to save Ohioans from any immediate tax increases.

They have a bill that would satisfy both pledges. H.B. 49 would free about $15 million more a year for local distribution by shifting the cost of the Department of Highway Safety from license plate revenue to part of the state gasoline tax

The only problem with this bill is that it does not represent the wisest course of action. It would cut off money that very well may be needed by the State Highway Department to keep Ohio's long-range roadbuilding program on schedule, and it would not put this money in the local hands that need it the most.

IN THE FACE of some local opposition to H.B. 49, there have been rumors that the Republicans may revise the distribution formula to correct the latter problem.

Certainly the formula needs revising, as just about everybody but the people who now benefit the most from it agrees. But there is a serious question whether hasty revision for political expediency would produce a new formula that would prove in the long run to be any fairer than the old one.

Even if the revision were perfect, it would not solve the other half of H.B. 49's problem: the reduction of state highway funds. Respected voices outside the State Highway Department say damage to the total highway program would far outweigh any immediate advantages to various localities under H.B. 49.

In other words, H.B. 49 is shortsighted. It does not take into account the fact the only solution to the state-local money need is to raise more money rather than to shift around available money

A more farsighted approach, we believe, lies in S.B. 307, which would raise an estimated $17.5 million for local governments by increasing motor vehicle license fees.

RELUCTANT AS WE ARE to call elected officials to task for remembering campaign promises, we feel compelled in this instance to urge Republican leaders in the General Assembly to give preference to S.B. 307 over

It's Beginning To Rain In Laos

It is out of the question that anyone on the scene in Laos will write about the local stress and strain from the viewpoint of the Laotians. This would be as unthinkable as to write about turmoil in the Congo from the viewpoint of the Congolese.

The least important people in these storm centers of world chaos are the local residents. They are as innocent of the momentous events swirling about them as South Sea islanders were of the motives for bloodshed in the Pacific war theater during World War II.

In ages past, the innocent bystanders of conflict between national rivals were the peasantry and provincials whose fields and farms were turned into battlegrounds for the armies of kings, princes, dictators and empire builders.

The hordes of Europe knew little or nothing about the issues between the opposing camps. Their conquerors and oppressors treated them no worse than their former lords and masters. War machines raged back and forth across their villages, pillaging their possessions - and ordinary people survived somehow.

BUT NOW there is a new idea about international conflict-that it should be a contest of wills and mights on a battleground belonging to someone else on another

There was a time not long ago when th Soviet Union seemed ready to set up its war machine in the Congo, then reconsidered. It was obvious even to untrained minds that the Congo in Africa was too

GOP Works On The Big-City Vote

By Victor Riesel

Republicans know exactly why they lost the presidency. They didn't get enough votes. Buy why, and where? By quietly taking apart the precincts in Newark, N. J., and other big communities, one of their task forces has learned that the GOP loses all key elections unless it takes at least 41 per cent of Victor Riesel the big city votes. If it doesn't, the Republican party loses the states themselves and thus the electoral vote.

GOP researchers already have analyzed in "depth" many past election results in five big cities in their recent studies to discover why they are losing the big towns. These are Newark, N.J., New York City, Philadelphia, Columbus, Ohio, and San Francisco. Soon they'll hit Detroit and Chicago. Later they'll do a political autopsy on the vote in eight other metropolitan areas.

They are realists, the men on the Republican Special Committee on Big City Campaigning.

They know they can't retake all these labor-jammed areas but they believe they can cut down the margin between the Republican candidates and the Democratic-labor coalition.

Until they finish their analysis. they're not quite certain how they can build a precinct organization to compete with the dedicated activity of the organized groups working for their opposition

Some of the Republicans, for example, are watching the Republican fight for GOP's New Jersey gubernatorial nomination. The New Jersey primary battle which will be settled on April 18 - is between former secretary of labor, James Mitchell, and party veteran named Walter H.

JIM MITCHELL, whom the labor leaders called the best secretary of labor they ever had (that was pre-Goldberg), has been close to Dick Nixon. Also he has just made his trek to the Palm Springs mecca, meaning Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Mitchell does not hide his prounion sentiments. During a recent debate he argued against a law which would break up national unions into local bargaining out-

Nor has he asked some unions now supporting him to soft pedal their campaigning. Among those are Howard Coughlin's Office Employes International Union and Lee Minton's Glass Bottle Blowers.

The other week, Coughlin brought his key people in from all over the state to talk strategy with Mitchell. At the same time Minton, who is one of the most respected though self-effacing members of labor's high command, has his union support the campaign financially.

These actions and Mitchell's record in the Eisenhower Cabinet have put the "progressive" label

The GOP's "Big City" task force is watching closely. It will compare the Mitchell campaign results with its own scientific study. This was made in the five big communities previously mentioned on every conceivable basis.

THE REPUBLICAN analysis explored in patterns. One pattern was by religious groups. Another racial, ethnic, labor, etc. They took four or five streets at a time. They tried to learn why

NEWARK, N.J. the voters hit the ballots as they did. They went in on an economic basis. They went into the disricts where the union folk lived and attempted to see how they voted. Did the union members vote by

The Republican candidate won 70 of the 83 counties quite easily. He lost 13 counties. Of these he dropped 12 by comparatively narrow margins. But he was beaten in Wayne County (Detroit) where Walter Reuther long ago rejuvenated the Democratic party. This lost the state for Nixon.

What the "Big City" committee has been assigned to do is to come up with organizational tactics for scaling that political wall.

To devise the strategy the GOP leaders have chosen a group of men who have done some unique invading of enemy territory. There's Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Texas. He's from Dallas, which gave Nixon the biggest big-city vote in the land. There's the vice president of the International Brotherhood of

Boilermakers, John Stender. He ran for Congress on the Republican ticket in Seattle and lost by some 100 votes. There's Rep. Glenard Lipscomb, who has done well for the GOP in Los Angeles, and Gov. Volpe of Massachusetts. In all there are 13 specialists under the chairmanship of Ray

Bliss, who took Ohio from Ken-If this committee can spread its own technique from its mem-

Kennedy's Farm Plan

By Raymond Moley

Any doubt that President Kennedy has sharp and adaptable po- considered in this method of gainlitical skills must be dissipated by an examination of the farm program which he has committed to the ministrations of Congress. He has moved a considerable distance since a few years ago he voted as a senator against rigid farm supports.

In the Wisconsin primary a year ago, under attack for that vote by Sen. Humphrey, he practically admitted that he had been mistaken.

After examining the election returns, he drew the conclusion that the farm states had rejected the program proposed in the 1960 Democratic platform. For Nixon had carried that part of the

So, with pressing and critical foreign problems to meet, he has shifted to Congress the responsibility for solving the insoluble, with a play by which Congress, itself, can in turn give the farmer a chance to tackle the job him-

IN ESSENCE, the farmers will elect from producers of 250 different farm commodities advisory committees. Then when the price of a commodity falls below a certain level, the advisory committee for that commodity, with the secretary of agriculture, will work out a plan or program to raise

Since any such program will involve some sort of controls, the producers of that commodity will have a vote. If two-thirds vote for it, the plan will go to Congress, which will have 60 days to veto it if it chooses. Without a veto, the plan will go into effect.

In all its details, the entire program submitted by the President seems to confuse even some stalwart farm senators.

The meaning should be clear to all. The President has very skillfully passed the problem over to Congress, to the secretary of agriculture and to millions of farmers.

If Congress fails to adopt the plan, its members will endure the blame or reap the praise. If the large powers given to the secretary of agriculture result in such unpopularity as Secretary Benson was compelled to bear, the President will simply have to get another secretary of agriculture and then begin all over again Meanwhile, months and years will elapse during which the President can turn his mind to many things other than agriculture.

David Lawrence While this may avoid political embarrassment to some of those members of the House who are afraid of resentments in their home districts, whichever way they vote, it probably will deprive the American people nevertheless of an opportunity to see a record vote on this controversial issue. It could have a far-reaching effect on the 1962 congressional campaign

Meanwhile, the debate by constitutional lawyers goes on. Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, Democratic leader in the House, put into the "Congressional Record" a few days ago a report prepared at his request by Arthur E. Sutherland, professor of constitutional law at Harvard Law

It differs from the view expressed by President Kennedy in his message to Congress and later at a press conference when he declared that aid to parochial schools at the elementary or secondary level is clearly unconstitutional

Prof. Sutherland concludes that the difference between existing federal aid programs to sectarian schools and the proposal to permit federal loans for construction are not enough to persuade him that "a measure providing for long-term loans of the character which I have described, to aid education in basic lay subjects, would conflict with the provisions of the First Amendment.'

Prof. Sutherland also draws attention to an opinion in 1930 by Chief Justice Hughes-concurred in unanimously by the other justices of the Supreme Court of the United States-which upheld a Louisiana law granting money to provide textbooks on general education free in all schools, sectarian as well as nonsectarian, private as well as public.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE quoted with approval from the opinion of the Supreme Court of the State of Louisiana, which had said in 'The school children and the state alone are the beneficiaries: It is also true that the sectarian schools, which some of the children attend, instruct their pupils in religion, and books are used for that purpose, but one may search diligently the acts, though without result, in an effort to find anything to the effect that it is tion purposes at colleges and the purpose of the state to furnish religious books for the use of such children.

Then Chief Justice Hughes, speaking on behalf of the Supreme Court of the United States, went

Since the highest court in the land says that when a state furnishes free textbooks to all schools -public and private-it is constitutional, the question now is being asked why a federal or state loan to construct a school building isn't also a broad and comprehensive interest in aiding the educational process rather than a specific aid

The documents were prepared in consultation with attorneys of the Department of Justice. The conclusions are far from a complete endorsement of all President Kennedy's statements on this issue at his press conferences. It is evident that the constitutional barriers are not as clearly drawn as he implied. In fact, Mr. Willcox says:

"It is also likely that where funds are made available to a church school on a loan basis for special purposes not closely related to religious instruction, constitutional objections may be avoided."

An example is then given of an existing law of Congress which. as Mr. Willcox says, "enables church schools to borrow funds for equipment to assist in teaching science, mathematics and languages." He adds:

"Such programs advance specific national purposes and their relationship to the religious function of a church school is remote. Moreover, the requirement that such funds be repaid makes it unlikely that a church school will be enabled to free its own funds for religious purposes."

SUPPORTERS of aid to parochial schools by means of loans for construction now ask what is the difference between the purpose served by bricks and mortar in helping the general cause of education in parochial schoolsboth elementary and secondaryand the lending of money for equipment in teaching certain subjects in those same school build-

Certainly in parochial schools general education is taught in conformity with standards set by state governments, while religious instruction is separate and sup-

And this week, too, he seems to have persuaded the Russians to cool off a bit on Laos.

In foreign affairs Kennedy, like President Eisenhower, has avoided loud noises, except that in Eisenhower's case his secretary of state. John Foster Dulles, made enough noise for both of them. Kennedy's secretary of state, Dean Rusk, just the opposite from Dulles, is letting the President do the main talking in foreign affairs. And Kennedy, while plenty tough, has pitched everything in a low key.

In one important way in dealing with Congress Kennedy is following President Eisenhower's policy, although it seems to be natural with him anyway. But in one important way he isn't.

Before this year is over, judging by the skinny margins of his victories, Kennedy may yet get clubbed and clobbered by Congress. It's too soon for him to develop comfortable feelings.

What remains to be seen is this: If Congress roughs him up, will he-like others before him in adversity-get tougher, publicly and privately?

Seven more bills were introduced in the Senate, including proposals to take the Wildlife Division out of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources and to require that anyone receiving a driver's license prove financial responsibility. The Senate passed and sent to the House bills which included those to:

Authorize county commissioners in a half-dozen southeastern counties to sell 40 acres of jointly held sanitorium land at Chillicothe. It will go to the Ohio University branch there as a site for a Chillicothe campus.

Provide penalties for fraudulent use of credit cards.

Everybody's business is nobody's business

Chances are you've seen a pop fly drop untouched among several ball players. Any one of them could have caught it. Trouble was, each one thought the other would.

We've often heard it expressed this way: when it's everybody's business, then it's nobody's business.

It can be pretty much the same thing with your money. When you have a checking account with us, a savings account with someone else, and get a loan from someone else again, you make your money everybody's business . . . and nobody's.

East Fifth Street

How much wiser it is to deal exclusively with a full-service commercial Bank . . . the only place that can handle all your money problems. Your fullservice Bank knows you, feels a responsibility toward you. Its business (its only business) is to give you the most complete financial service possible.

And when you deal with a fullservice commercial Bank, you build up that precious asset called "standing." Your "standing" is simply the good character and reputation you have established with your commercial bank -something they will vouch for, gladly.

It's simply a complete Bank, a commercial Bank. For, unlike many financial institutions that offer only one or two services, a fullservice commercial Bank handles all your money needs. These services include . Savings Accounts . Checking Accounts . Personal Loans . Car Loans . Home Loans · Business and Farm Loans. By using these services you build your Personal Standing in your community.

U.S., Russia Arms Debate Seen Averted

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) _U.N. diplomats were relieved today by reports the United States and the Soviet Union have agreed on a way to avert a disarmament debate in this session of the General Assembly

With this controversial issue sidetracked from the main world arena, delegates were hopeful the assembly could wind up by the target date of April 21.

Informed sources said the two big powers would inform the assembly's main political committee this afternoon that they will continue private talks on the makeup of a new East-West arms negotiating committee and on the time and place for the negotiations to resume.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Chief U. S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson were also expected to introduce a joint resolution citing their agreement and asking the 99-nation body to defer arms debate until the next session starting Sept. 19.

Stevenson has been negotiating with the Soviets for more than four weeks in search of some way to postpone an arms debate until the fall and thus gain time for the Kennedy administration to formulate its disarmament policy. Stevenson and Gromyko reportedly have agreed that negotiations, which broke down in Geneva last June, should resume July 31, again in Geneva.

Red Sox Lose Williams But Jensen Is Back; Nips Tribe With Home Run

September 28, 1960 may turn out to be a mighty important date the 1961 baseball fortunes of the Boston Red Sox.

On that day, Ted Williams said he was calling it a career as an active player. And Jackie Jensen announced that he was returning to the Red Sox in 1961 after a year's retirement "for personal

Thus Boston lost Williams, the colorful veteran, but regained the slugging Jensen-making a "comeback" in the American League at the age of 34.

Jensen belted a three-run homer over the left field wall Wednesday in the bottom of the seventh and gave the Red Sox a 6-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians at Scottsdale, Ariz. Rain halted the game at the end of the sev-

The distance-swinging outfielder accounted for four runs with a double besides his third homer of the spring.

Bill Monbouquette, a 14-game winner in 1960, pitched the seven innings for the Red Sox, who posted their 10th victory in 16 exhibition starts. Walt Bond homered for the Indians.

Elsewhere along the exhibition circuit Wednesday: New York snapped an eight-game home base losing streak in downing Detroit 5-3, Milwaukee turned back Minnesota 6-2, Kansas City nipped St. Louis 3-2, Philadelphia whipped Pittsburgh 7-2, the Chicago White Sox licked the Los Angeles Dodgers 10-6, and San Francisco blanked the Chicago Cubs 8-0 in a game called after seven innings because of rain. Cincinnati split its squad for a day-night game The Reds' B team bowed to Washington 5-4 in the afternoon and the "A" team lost at night to Baltimore in Miami. 9-8.

Bill Skowron and Bobby Richardson powered the Yanks over and Frank Bolling homered for the winning Braves while Harmon Killebrew connected in a losing game for Minnesota.

Even in the occasional home which has domestic help, the helper has one or more regular days off a week. The mother does the work then.

The only reason the children don't share in this work, as children did in the pioneer home, is that their parents haven't trained them to share.

In the pioneer home all the family worked, and those of the nearest neighbor did also. It was the thing to do. The children didn't

Deaths and Funerals

Death Claims Retired Potter

James D. Williams of Vodrey Orchard Rd., a retired potter, died Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Martha Quarterman, of the Irish Ridge Rd.. following an illness of four months. He was 61.

Mr. Williams was born Sept. 20, 1899, in New Cumberland, son of John Williams and Mary Cline Williams. He resided in this area virtually his lifetime. He worked for 20 years as a batterout at the Homer Laughlin China Co. and retired nine years ago. He was a member of the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Grace Reynolds Williams at home; two sons, James H. Williams and Henry W. Williams, both of East Liverpool; another daughter, Mrs. Sylvia Cehrs of Lisbon; three brothers, Lewis Williams, George Williams and Beryl Williams, all of East Liverpool; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Myers of Steubenville, Mrs. Faye Hargraves and Mrs. Marie Malone, both of East Liverpool, and nine grandchildren.

The Martin Funeral Home is arranging services.
